Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kardos et al. (U.S. Patent 6,430,562).

For claim 1, Kardos teaches, a computer aided dispatch system comprising:

a master dispatch database comprising one or more data tables, each data table having one or more entries, each containing information pertaining to the dispatch of services by one or more mobile units; (see Kardos, Col. 3 line 56 to Col. 4 line 13, Col. 15 lines 47-56)

a central dispatch computer system capable of accessing the master dispatch database; (see Kardos, Col. 3 line 56 to Col. 4 line 13)

one or more mobile terminals, comprising a processor and a local dispatch database; (see Kardos, Col. 15 lines 47-56, Col. 15 line 66 to Col. 17 line 20)

wherein, whenever a change is made to the master dispatch database by the central dispatch computer system, the change is automatically sent by the central dispatch computer system to the one or more mobile terminals, which in turn each make a substantially similar change to its local dispatch database; (see Kardos, Col. 16 lines 28-42)

and wherein the one or more mobile terminals are configured to respond to dispatches by traveling to a dispatch site and the computer aided dispatch system provides real time status information regarding calls and mobile unit availability to the one or more mobile terminals. (see Kardos, Col. 17 lines 1-7, Col. 22 lines 34-49, Col. 20 lines 5-23)

For claim 2, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 1 wherein the change is sent by the central dispatch computer system at substantially the same time the change is made to the master dispatch database. (see Kardos, Col. 16 lines 28-42, Col. 22 lines 21-32)

For claim 3, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 2 wherein the change is one of an addition of a new entry in the master dispatch database, a modification of an existing entry in the master dispatch database, and a deletion of an entry in the master dispatch database. (see Kardos, Col. 21 lines 41-58)

For claim 4, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 3 wherein the master dispatch database comprises a master call data table and the local dispatch database on each mobile terminal comprises a local call data table, each entry in the master call data table and the local call data table containing information about a matter for which services must be dispatched. (see Kardos, Col. 21 lines 22-36, Col. 15 line 66 to Col. 17 line 20)

For claim 5, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 4 wherein the master dispatch database further comprises a master unit data table and the local dispatch database on each mobile terminal further comprises a local unit data table, each entry in the master unit data table and the local unit data table containing information about one of the mobile units. (see Kardos, Col. 12 lines 34-49)

For claim 6, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 2 wherein the central dispatch computer system comprises a dispatch server and a gateway computer, wherein the dispatch server is capable of making the change to the master dispatch database and the gateway computer is capable of accessing the master dispatch database and sending information about new, modified and deleted entries to the one or more mobile terminals. (see Kardos, Col. 12 lines 34-49, Col. 15 line 66 to Col. 17 line 20, Col. 16 lines 28-42, Col. 22 lines 21-32)

For claim 7, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 6 wherein each entry in the master dispatch database comprises a send field, indicating whether the entry should be sent to the one or more mobile terminals. (see Kardos, Col. 21 lines 22-36)

For claim 8, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 7 wherein the gateway computer accesses the master dispatch database and sends to the one or more mobile terminals information regarding those entries in which the send field is set to indicate that the entry should be sent. (see Kardos, Col. 21 lines 22-36)

For claim 9, Kardos teaches, the system of claim 8 further comprising a switch attached to the gateway computer capable of wireless transmission and wherein the one or more mobile terminals further comprise a wireless modem that is attached to the processor. (see Kardos, Col. 15 lines 47-56)

Claims 10-18 list all the same elements of claims 1-9, but in method form rather than system form. Therefore, the supporting rationale of the rejection to claims 1-9 applies equally as well to claims 10-18.

Conclusion

Applicant is suggest to consider the prior art provided in the sighted 892 when formulating any additional amendments, since the cited art provides additional patents and pre-grant publications are/is in same filed of invention.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
